Restorative Practices, done right, has proven to be the key to improving Student-Teacher relationships, driving up engagement, building a respectful culture and enhancing teacher effectiveness. And here's the kicker - it's fantastic for reducing Teacher Stress too.

This workshop is designed to provide Teachers and School Leaders with a powerful understanding of Restorative Practices in order to:

- Generate long-term improvements in student behaviour ... beyond the quick fix.
- Learn how to construct truly Restorative conversations and circles.
- Use the Restorative Questions with skill, confidence and poise.
- Dispel the myths of Restorative Practices being too soft and too time intensive.
- Connect practice inextricably to School and Personal Values.
- Achieve a critical understanding of human emotion including the influence of Shame on student behaviour.
- Confidently use Restorative Practices across the continuum from informal applications.
- Reflect on personal Teaching Practice using the Operation Domains (Social Discipline Window).
- Embed Restorative Practices as the fundamental platform for effective Teaching.

This workshop is targeted towards Teachers and School Leaders across Primary, Secondary & Special environments.
